Part One — I arrived before the doors of the Temple

1 passage

I I abandoned my dense form and penetrated into ecstasy

He opens the chapter of the Rune Ar with a night of meditation, and the soul that leaves the body and comes to the temple.

Meditating like this, I abandoned my dense form and penetrated into ecstasy. There is no better pleasure than the feeling of oneself as a detached soul, for then, past, present and future are brethren within an eternal now. Filled with a delectable, unutterable and indescribable spiritual voluptuousness and impelled by the mysterious force of longing, I arrived before the doors of the Temple.

II The door of the Sanctuary was sealed with a great boulder

The stone that blocks the way to the profane, the word that opens it, and the Great Temple of the Milky Way with its sacred altar.

The door of the Sanctuary was sealed with a great boulder which was blocking the way to profane people. Oh heart, do not desist before things of mystery! “Open Sesame!” was my exclamation and the rock opened in order for me to enter. So then, when some intruders tried to do the same, I had to grasp my flaming sword and cry with all the forces of my soul, “Get ye hence profane and profaners!”

2 Runic Magic, 1969 · Chapter 10, Rune Ara

I had penetrated into the Great Temple of this Milky Way, the central Sanctuary of this gigantic galaxy, the Transcended Church. The terror of Love and Law reigns within this venerated place. Only the Sidereal Gods can prostrate before the sacred altar of that terribly divine Temple.

3 Runic Magic, 1969 · Chapter 10, Rune Ara

Part Two — I do not know anything, I am nobody

2 passages

I They were the Boddhisattwas of the Gods

Inside the temple: humble men, like peasants, in whom nothing called 'I' remains.

Joyfully, I advanced towards the place of prostrations and adorations. Here, there, and everywhere, in all the blessed places of the temple, a multitude of humble and simple men were coming and going, who rather were resembling submissive and obedient peasants. They were the Boddhisattwas of the Gods, they were men in the most complete sense of the word, creatures who enjoy of the objective knowledge, who are one hundred per cent Self-conscious.

4 Runic Magic, 1969 · Chapter 10, Rune Ara

> they only wanted the absolute > death, to lose themselves > within their Being
> Runic Magic, 1969

Certainly, I could evidence until satiety and without a doubt that already nothing that could be called 'I', 'myself', existed within these human creatures, these men were completely dead. I did not see within them the desire of standing out, of ascending, of climbing until the top of the ladder and wanting to boast of themselves, etc. These creatures had no interest in their existence, they only wanted the absolute death, to lose themselves within their Being, that is all.

2 passages

II An intuitional lightning bolt fulminated me to death

His proud march towards the altar, and the memory of the same error, long ago, before the same humble man.

How happy I felt while advancing through the centre of the temple towards the sacred altar! Certainly, I was marching arrogantly, energetically with a triumphal step. Suddenly, one of those 'humble peasants of pick and shovel' was walking by blocking my way. For a moment I tried to keep ahead walking arrogantly, haughtily and with disdain.

6 Runic Magic, 1969 ·Chapter 10, Rune Ara

But, Oh God of mine! An intuitional lightning bolt fulminated me to death, and I then vividly remembered that in a forgone time, in the remote past I had committed the same error while in the presence of this humble peasant. That past error was clearly present within my mind. With horror, terror and fear I remembered the dreadful instant in which with frightening words uttered from the Sacred Altar, amidst lightning bolts, rays and thunder, I was cast out of the temple.

7 Runic Magic, 1969 ·Chapter 10, Rune Ara

2 passages

III I prostrated myself before this peasant

Repentance, the answer of the humble one, and the blessing that lets him go on to the altar.

The whole of this event of the past revived within my mind in a thousandth of a second. Then repented, I stopped my arrogant and proud march and feeling contrite, regretful and remorseful in my heart, with modesty and submission, I prostrated myself before this peasant. I kissed his feet while addressing him like this: “You are a great Master, a great Sage”, but that creature instead of being satisfied with my words answered: “I do not know anything, I am nobody.” I answered back, “Yes, you are the Boddhisattwa of one of the great Gods who is the governor of many constellations.”

8 Runic Magic, 1969 ·Chapter 10, Rune Ara

My joy was immense when that authentic man blessed me. I felt as if I had been forgiven and joyfully I continued my way towards the Sacred Altar. Then after, I returned into my physical body.

9 Runic Magic, 1969 ·Chapter 10, Rune Ara

Part Three — This stone is the sex

2 passages

I That temple sealed with the sacred stone

He never forgot the stone that sealed the temple, and he sets beside it the corner stone of the Scriptures.

Many years have past and I never could forget that temple sealed with the sacred stone. Behold I lay in Sion a chief corner stone, elect, precious: and he that believeth on it shall not be confounded.

10 Runic Magic, 1969 ·Chapter 10, Rune Ara

> The stone which the builders disallowed, the same is made the head of the corner and a stone of stumbling, and a rock of offence. (I Peter 4:8)

II The Philosophical Stone

The stone the alchemists sought, and what it is.

The old medieval Alchemists were always searching for the Philosophical Stone and some of them performed the Great Work with complete success.

12 Runic Magic, 1969 ·Chapter 10, Rune Ara

this stone is the sex

Runic Magic, 1969

Speaking with blunt frankness, it is our duty to emphatically affirm that this stone is the sex.

13 Runic Magic, 1969 ·Chapter 10, Rune Ara

III PATAR with its three radical consonants

Peter, who lifts the stone that seals the Sanctuary, and the three letters of his original name.

Peter, disciple of Jesus the Christ, is the Aladdin, the marvelous interpreter who is authorized to lift the stone which seals the Sanctuary of the Great Mysteries. The original name of Peter is PATAR with its three radical consonants: P, T, R, The 'P' reminds us with complete clarity of the Parents of the Gods, our Pater, Father who is in secret, the Phitaras. The 'T' is the Tau, the cross, the divine Hermaphrodite, the black Lingam inserted into the Yoni. The 'R' is fundamental in the fire, it is the Egyptian RA. The 'R' is also radical in the powerful Mantra INRI: (IGNES NATURA RENOVATUR INTEGRA).

14 Runic Magic, 1969 ·Chapter 10, Rune Ara

1 passage

IV The fire is found latent within the stone

The spark in the flint, the stones of the ancient peoples, and the Living Stone beneath the chalice.

The fire is found latent within the stone and the ancient people made the spark to jump from within the living bosom of the hard flint. My memory brings the remembrance of the Stones of the Lightning, the Orphic Galactite, the Sculapian Ostrite, the Stone with which Machaon healed Philoctetes, the Magic Betilo of all countries, the Howling, Oscillate, Runic and Uttering Stones of the Teraphims. The chalice of the Christified Mind has as its base the Living Stone, the Sacred Altar.

II Every authentic White Initiation begins here

Peter on the inverted cross, as he tells it in Parsifal Unveiled.

Peter dies crucified on the inverted cross, with his head towards the ground and his feet towards the heavens, as if he is inviting us to descend into the Forge of the Cyclops, into the Ninth Sphere, in order to work with the fire and water, origin of worlds, beasts, humans and Gods. Every authentic White Initiation begins here.
