How to read this book

The gloss is ours. Every entry opens with a plain-English explanation written for this glossary, marked with a green rule and closing with ❧. Everything in quotation marks is his, verbatim, with the book and chapter it stands in. Nothing of ours is ever inside his words.

He defines fewer than half of his own terms. Where he uses a word and never explains it, the entry says uses it, never defines it rather than quietly supplying a meaning. The mantrams are mostly of this kind: he prints them and moves on.

475 of these words have not yet reached a booklet. An entry with no stands in line is a subject nobody on the Practice Shelf has built yet — so this is also a map of what is still owed.

The lightning is the Superman and the cloud is the man. To be born is a sexual problem; the path is sexual transmutation. The Ninth Key is shown in a rectangle, representative of the four elements of Alchemy. In carefully studying this rectangle, we discover a double circle that wisely symbolizes the mercurial matter with its two properties (generation and regeneration). The double circle contains three serpents emerging from three hearts. Truly we need to work with the mercury, the sulfur and the salt in order to raise the metallic serpent upon the staff. Cain

The rogues use this mind in order to succeed; they consider themselves to be powerful sages with that well-cultivated lunar animal mind. There exists a figure of a decapitated Angel; the Angel of Samothrace. That sculpture means that after the ego has been dissolved, after having burned the seeds, having bathed and been confirmed in the Light etc., one must pass through the decapitation. The death of the lunar body and the lunar mind is lacking. These two bodies which constitute the Cain are the two subjective elements, those which must be decapitated. Then only Osiris remains, and the Essence which rests in the heart of Osiris. One then has the right to wear the Asp (the serpent) upon the brow, and as is said in the "Book of the Dead", one may now be seated as the other Osiris are seated and to wear the Serpent upon the forehead. The hermaphrodite of the submerged continent of Lemuria was complete, having both sexes totally de veloped and evolved. They were not infrasexuals. They were not of intermediate sex. Today it is only possible to find the divine hermaphrodite in the Spirit and Soul that is fused and perfect. The cornietely feminine Soul and the completely masculine Spirit are fused in initiation. An Angel is a divine hermaphrodite. No Angel is of intermediate sex. It is necessary to place ourselves upon the Path of the Revolution of Consciousness. The serpent is normally enclosed in the Muladhara Chakra, the Church of Ephesus. She slumbers in that center, coiled three and a half times. The serpent must inevitably come out of her church. If the serpent rises up through the medullar canal, we are transformed into angels; if it descends to the atomic infernos of man, then we are transformed into demons. Now you will comprehend why the serpent of the caduceus is always double. The sexual force is the hyle of the Gnostics. Zachariel also ZACHARIEL

28× IN 14 BOOKS

> The Genie, Regent or rector of Jupiter, one of the seven planetary Logoi he lists with Gabriel, Raphael, Uriel, Michael, Samael and Orifiel. His name is also spoken in one of the conjurations.

> "We already know that Zachariel is the Genie of Jupiter. What we ignored is who Elvah and Sanagabril were. At first sight, we comprehended that they were the two Antitheses of the Ray of Jupiter. We had to call Sanagabril with the Appellation of Peter of Apono, because he was a Tenebrous Entity. Since one had to conjure him to drive him away, one could logically deduce that he was a Tenebrous One! As for Elvah, it was inferred that he was a luminous Angel, since he is utilized to drive away Sanagabril. Therefore, Elvah could not be invoked with the appellation of Peter of Apono. We would have to call him in the Name of Christ, by the Majesty of Christ, by the Power of Christ."

How this was made

Every word here was gathered mechanically from the fifty-two books, then judged by two independent readers, with a blind third reader settling every disagreement. The gather only proposes; it decides nothing.

What the checking caught

A gloss is the one thing here that is not his words, so each was read back by someone who saw only the gloss and his passages and answered one question: does this claim anything the passages do not say? 116 failed, and nearly all failed the same way — a claim borrowed from the neighbouring entry. Akashic Records had taken its definition from Akasa; Nitrogen had taken its whole meaning from Occult Chemistry; Baptism of Fire had promoted a disciple's hedged guess — "it seems to me" — into the master's doctrine. Each was rewritten with its head alone in a file, with no neighbour to borrow from, and read again.

One rejection rule was proposed, tested, and thrown out. It would have discarded every capitalised word standing only in Occult Medicine, as an illness heading from the pharmacopoeia. Its own sample held ADONAI, ELOHIM, HAGIOS, METRATON, GAE — the divine names of the conjurations, which live in that book because the conjurations do. The rule was rejected and all seventy-nine went to the readers. A pattern is not a list.

What it does not do

It does not settle his contradictions. Where he says two different things — and he often does — the gloss says so and leaves both standing.

It does not translate. A gloss says what he uses a word for, not what the word means in Sanskrit, Hebrew or Latin. Where he gives an etymology it is his; where he gives none, there is none here.

It does not cover the Spanish. Six Spanish works stand on the shelf, and a Spanish glossary would be a different sweep over a different library, not a translation of this one.
